The Concerns Are:

The President fears a new Congress being seated, particularly in the House of Representatives, where committees will release the other half of the Epstein Files and will investigate the President's, his family's, his Cabinet's, and his associates' corruption. Because the President doesn't want a new Congress seated after the November election, he could unlawfully, unconstitutionally, and immorally use the U.S. military, the FBI, and ICE to interfere in the election, placing the US military and ICE heavily armed at the polls; possibly confiscating ballots and voting machines; and imposing martial law under the Insurrection Act. Finally, the President has singularly made war, ignoring the War Powers Clause, found in Article I, Section 8, Clause 11 of the U.S. Constitution, which grants Congress the exclusive authority to declare war. In this war, he threatens to obliterate Iran. Obliteration implies the unlawful and immoral use of nuclear weapons.

The US Military, FBI, and ICE Must Refuse Unlawful, Unconstitutional, Immoral Orders.
